GROWING DISCONTENT IN GERMANY

Over the Failure of the Ruthless Submarine Warfare to Bring the Desired Peace.

(By Associated Press)
Copenhagen, via London, June 2.—Private advices from Germany tell of a growing discontent on the part of the people to find fault with the effect of the ruthless submarine warfare as it has not brought the desired peace. During their long campaign for the ruthless submarine the advocates made it a claim in both street and newspaper arguments that only two or three months time would be required to bring England to terms. Grumblings are now heard on all sides, that four months have elapsed and England shows no signs of weakening.

Statements that France would be forced to retire from the war no longer attract any attention. The question is frequently asked the correspondent what would be the effect in the United States if the submarine warfare was abandoned.

The government has inaugurated a vigorous publicity campaign to bolster up the people on the ruthless submarine warfare as well as the neutrals.

B. & M. WILL NOT DO WORK ON MIDDLES TREET.

Lively Tilt Between City and Railroad
Officials in Boston---Will fight it out before Public Service Board.

For over an hour on Friday, Mayor S. T. Ladd, City Solicitor S. W. Emery and John C. Parsons of the Board of Public Works were in conference with President J. H. Huskins and General Solicitor Hudson of the Boston & Maine railroad in the president's office in Boston. As a result of this meeting it is evident that the railroad does not see its way clear to enter into its share of work connected with the Middle street paving job.

President Huskins addressed the local delegation and went over the situation thoroughly, explaining the condition of the railroad at present. He talked from a patriotic standpoint, but did not oppose or favor the work. The hot shot during the meeting was fired by the general solicitor, who declared at the start that it was very unpatriotic to force the railroad to do the work at this time when the company was giving all the time possible to the care and movement of the government freight and coal supply. He went further when he said that he was surprised at the vote of the city council ordering the work done when the country is at war. It was politics and not patriotic spirit. He thought the public of Portsmouth in general would back up the railroad in the stand it took.

There was a lively brush between Solicitor Emery and General Solicitor Hudson when the latter intimated the political future of some of the men depended on the paying of this street. Solicitor Emery replied that such a statement was out of the question and had absolutely nothing whatever to do with it. Solicitor Emery stated that the city had planned this work and that it was going to be done if possible. The mayor and solicitor informed Mr. Hudson that they considered it was patriotism to keep the main thoroughfare of the city fit for travel and the railroad's patriotic duty to do its share, according to the original agreement. Solicitor Emery told the railroad attorney that if the company wanted to be patriotic it would repair its roadbed in different parts of the system throughout the city outside of the Middle street proposition. The yearly earnings of the road got considerable attention and several questions covering the income, expenditures and depreciation were fired back and forth. The meeting concluded leaving the situation just the same. Mr. Hudson said he would advise the company not to undertake the work at present. The city solicitor's final statement was to the effect that the matter would be brought at once to the attention of the public service commission, as the work had been delayed long enough. The next move looks like a hearing in this city or Concord. Meanwhile the U-boats will continue to submerge between Congress street and South street.

an officer. The affair occurred on the night of May 25 when Officer Condon placed the soldier under arrest about 1 o'clock in the morning on Bridge street. Pelkie, after the assault, ran into Hanover street, across the fire station yard, in a yard on Hill street where the officer lost out in the chase. He was located the next day at the navy yard but the civil authorities were not able to obtain his release until the government regulations were carried out in the case.

WHY LEAD-AND-OIL KEEPS WATER OUT

MIX white-lead and water together into a milky paste. Add linseed oil. The oil and white-lead will run together, driving the water to the top.

It's truly amazing what an affinity pure white-lead and oil have for each other; how the two combine to exclude water.

The case of water is hopeless in the mixing pail—hopeless also against the solid, impenetrable film the lead-and-oil paint forms on the house.

Dutch Boy Red Seal White-Lead

mixed with pure linseed oil is a form of house insurance all householders need every once so often. Such paint is toughly resistant to time and all sorts of weather. It will not crack nor scale.

This armor-sheath will sink in to all the tiny cracks and crevices of the wood, anchor there, and harden to a smooth surface. In either its original white, or colored as you desire, it will be a mantle of beauty for your buildings.

The "Get-Together" held Friday evening at the Government Street Methodist church, was a very successful and enjoyable affair. About 200 were in attendance including about 75 enlisted men from the navy yard who came by special invitation. A full evening's program had been prepared by Rev. William Forgrave, and was greatly enjoyed by all. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra of Portsmouth was present and furnished music throughout the evening. The address of welcome to the enlisted men was given by Chester Caswell, after which remarks were made by Chaplain Parke of the U. S. S. Baltimore, and the address of the evening was by Hon. Aaron B. Cole, this being followed by a piano solo by Miss Ellen Bowden. Remarks were made by Mr. Macauley of the Baltimore, and refreshments of ice cream, cake and fancy cookies were served. Then games were joined in by nearly all present, and songs of patriotism sung by the enlisted men and others, the orchestra accompanying them. It was found that 21 states were represented in the gathering, and before the program a brief reception was tendered the guests. Each one present was presented a patriotic tag on which his or her name was written, and thus the necessity of introductions and formalities was done away with. The enlisted men extended hearty thanks to the pastor and his helpers for the good time afforded them and are hoping that the next one will not be far off.

Mrs. William Hall and children went to Freeport, Me., on Friday, where they will make their home in the future.

The Haverhill, Mass., high school scholars have 300 in the bank, which they had intended to use for graduation expenses. This fact ought to be an inspiration to other schools to follow that example in so far as they are able.

With the weather conditions very unfavorable the People's Society of North Kittery held their social in the Fenwick schoolhouse Friday evening with a very large attendance. Refreshments consisting of tonic, ice cream and candy were on sale, and during the evening various games were played, all present expressing themselves as having a splendid time. At the breaking up of the social, the committee in charge, consisting of Mr. Samuel Caswell, Mrs. Samuel Caswell, and Mrs. Mark Boulter, turned over a goodly sum of money to the assistant treasurer of the Society, which gave the social the aspect of being a marked success financially as well as socially. A POSITIVE SENSATION AT THE COLONIAL MONDAY

Not content with giving their patrons the best musical comedy procurable, the management of the Colonial will go one step further during the coming week, and will present a grand bill of musical comedy and variety features that will surpass anything ever before presented in this city. The big show, Harry Weston and his Liberty Bells, will prove an attraction that should, and no doubt will test the capacity of the theatre at every performance.

A feature that will be introduced during the action of the musical comedy is the sensational athletes purveyors, the Five Metzetts positively the greatest quintette of acrobats ever assembled. For several seasons they were featured with the big Barnum and Bailey circus, and their occupancy of the centre ring never failed in riveting all eyes to that spot.

The Five Metzetts are the only act of their kind in the world, and while a column could be written regarding their work and achievements, no more will be said at the time is soon near when all may view this troupe, and after once seeing them in action, words would fail in description. If you want to see the greatest show of its kind that has ever visited this city, attend Monday's performance.

GERMAN FORCES GAINING FOOTHOLD NEAR SOISSONS

Heavy Fighting Under Crown Prince Near Verdun--
British Forces Under Haig Still Inactive--Labor
Troubles Increase in Russia

(By Associated Press)

Continuing his isolated attacks against the French lines the German Crown Prince on Friday threw large numbers of his forces against the defenses at the head in the north-east of Soissons and against Hill No. 204 on the Verdun front and succeeded in gaining a large foothold in these sections in Northern France. Although French counter attacks succeeded in some measure in driving back the attackers they were nevertheless able to retain considerable of their gains. The attack on Hill No. 204 was driven back by artillery fire of the French with heavy losses in life for the Germans.

Increased artillery fighting in the Ypres section, in Belgium, is reported by the war offices in official communications issued last night. Both London and Berlin report increased artillery activity in this theatre of the war with neither making any claims of great gains. The British line on the Arras battlefield continues and is shown in the official reports from London which claims for May the capture of only 312 German prisoners and one large gun while in April the British captured, according to their official figures, more than 10,000 prisoners and 267 large guns.

The taking over of the government by the great fortress of Kronstadt to the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates on Friday, indicates that the new Russian provisional government is unable to control the situation and serious complications are likely to follow, as a large number of manufacturers are situated in this vicinity. The Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates have declared that they are not in support of the Provisional government. More than 120 factories, vital to the interests of Russian successes, are controlled and commanded in this section by the factories and strikes may close these within a few hours, seriously affecting the munitions supplies of the Russian armies.

REGISTRATION TROUBLES ARE BEING EXPECTED

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 1.—Department of Justice officials discussing the probable situation on Registration day, Tuesday, June 5, are looking for more or less trouble although they stated that they believed the disorders would not be general or concerted, but of a sporadic nature. Officials and agents of the department are prepared to act quickly in all cases where anti-conscription and anti-registration advocates attempt to prevent the working of the laws and drastic measures are being perfected to bring the offenders to justice.

Speaking of the probable trouble to-night one of the leading officials of the department said that the department expected no more serious trouble than naturally follows on any election day where great issues are at stake, and no great election has been held without a certain amount of local troubles occurring, especially in large cities.

Attorney General Gregory announced that thirty or more persons mixed up in various schemes of anti-registration propaganda were already in custody of the department and more arrests would follow when cases were discovered. The department, he added, was taking every means to prevent anti-registration advocates disrupting the workings of the laws.

OWNERSHIP OF INTERRED SHIPS IN DISPUTE

(By Associated Press)

Shanghai, China, June 2.—Immediately after the seizure of the interned German ships by the Chinese after the breaking off of diplomatic relations between China and Germany, a group of Chinese merchants alleged that they had purchased the German vessels previous to the breaking off of relations and filed a claim with Admiral Sah Chen-ping who is in charge of the ships. He referred the claim to Peking.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

THIS is the year of all years when it will pay you to place an order for your Paige, just as early as possible.

In the first place, there is every indication that the "sold out" condition of last year will be repeated.

Thousands of people have been watching the performance of this great car—studying the experience of owners—convincing themselves that Paige is actually first choice in the field of light sixes.

Then, too, you will undoubtedly be obliged to pay more for your Paige if you wait too long.

It is a matter of public knowledge that the costs of all manufacturing materials and labor have increased tremendously during the past year—and quotations are still climbing.

We have, of course, protected ourselves by early purchase. But our present supplies cannot last indefinitely and, in the face of a steadily advancing market, we shall be obliged to increase list prices proportionately.

So—for your own protection—now is the time to act. Don't wait until it is too late. Don't place yourself in a position where it will be necessary to compromise on a "second best."

Heroism at Home.

Since the United States declared war there has been noticeable a strong desire on the part of many women to come to the front in unusual and striking ways. Some time ago it was proposed to raise a cavalry regiment of women in Boston, a number of women have enlisted for clerical work in the navy, and there appears to be a widespread feeling that women should bear a prominent part in the war.

It will be given to but few women to do this, but the women of the country can be of great assistance if they will. The way in which they can do this is pointed out by the secretary of agriculture, what he has to say having been called out by the many inquiries he has received as to the service which women can render. The secretary points out that women need not leave their homes in order to be of service in this emergency. They do not need to abandon their home duties to help the armed forces. The way for them to help clothe and feed the armies, says the secretary, is to practice effective thrift in their own households. He continues: "Every ounce of food the housewife saves from being wasted in her home, all food which she or her children produce in the garden and can or preserve, every garment which care and skillful repair make it unnecessary to replace—all lessen the household's draft on the already insufficient world supply."

This is sound doctrine. While it does not accord with the "Business as usual" program it is based on sound sense; and if the secretary's words are heeded the great majority of the women of the country will find their battlefield at home. There is room there for the best sort of service. It is a service that will not be crowned with visible glory, but it will be a glorious service nevertheless.

And the same truth applies with equal force to multitudes of men who for various and valid reasons are unable to go to the front. Not all the honors of this war are to be won on the field of battle. The home duties of men and women are more pressing than words can tell. There is food to be produced and conserved. There is waste to be stopped in practically every home in the land if the armies and the world are to be properly fed until the great conflict ends.

Let it be borne in mind by all that genuine service in this war need not necessarily be spectacular. Quiet, patient and thorough attention to home duties will be productive of as beneficial results as will follow the bravest work at the front, and all who do their duty at home will be heroes and heroines in spite of the absence of popular acclaim.

Reports of the destructive tornado that swept through portions of the West and Southwest the other day, causing loss of life and a vast destruction of property, should reconcile the people of this blessed part of the country to all the vagaries of the climate, which is sometimes disagreeable almost to the limit of endurance, as witness the present spring, so-called. But we don't have storms that move houses off their foundations and take their occupants with them.

The recent report of a U-boat off the New Hampshire coast leads the Germans to say that some of the ambitious ones over here are probably trying to "rob the sea serpent of its prerogatives." Which isn't so bad, even if it does come from Germany. There is no reason to believe that there are any German U-boats in American waters. They have all they can attend to nearer home.

An agricultural college professor claims to have discovered a way to extract milk from soy beans which is virtually equal in all respects to cows' milk, and he even contends that he can convert this into good butter, and all at a price far below those charged for the "real thing." All but the farmers will hope the report is true, but it is too early to get excited about it.

The Liberty Loan campaign is to be introduced into the moving picture houses, according to a report from New York. If the movement could have the receipts of these houses for a day and an evening it would be perceptibly aided. How would it do for these establishments, which are very liberally supported by the public, to take a few of the bonds?

Altogether too many guardsmen are being killed by trains at the railroad bridges. In all charity it must be confessed that there is gross carelessness somewhere and that this is not on the part of the railroad men, who have a right to assume that men stationed to protect the bridges should be sufficiently wide awake to take care of themselves.

New York has a fine recruiting station for the navy in the form of the first "land battleship" ever built, which is located in Union Square. It is a good imitation of a battleship and is a decided novelty, but recruits for the army and navy should be prompted by something besides novelty, and its name is patriotism.

From the Exchanges

Not the People—the Kaiser.

(From the Louisville Courier-Journal)

One of their wise men advises the Germans to eat grass. Better the advice to their Kaiser. Is it out that monarch's dream to follow in the footsteps of the original grass eater? Would he not be as mighty a ruler as was the son of Nabopolassar? Would not the empire in the sun which he would build be more splendid than that of Neo-Babylonia?

Has he not planned conquests more extensive than those which crowned the ambition of the Babylonian conqueror of Jerusalem and Judea, of Egypt and Tyre?

In the making of that empire has he not already reduced to ruins greater works than the Kaiser of Babylon ever wrought—greater than the canals and walls of Babylon; than Al-Kass; than the hanging gardens of Semiramis; than the temples of Esagha and Eshla?

Send not the Germans, but the Germans' ruler, to grass.

For "there fell a voice from heaven, saying, O King Nebuchadnezzar, to thee it is spoken, thy kingdom is departed from thee. And they shall drive thee forth from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field; they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen."

Kultur's Speed

(From the New York World)

The great tower of the Ypres Cathedral, after sustaining many bombardments, fell the other day just before the guns of Kultur were about to open upon it again. It took nearly seven centuries to complete the cathedral, but German efficiency in destruction brought about its ruin in less than three years.

Patriotism and Flat Feet

(From the Kansas City Star)

Reasonable care must be taken, of course, in the selecting of men for the army. In order that the soldiers shall be fit for the hardships of war; but there are instances of rather ludicrous applications of general rules to particular cases in rejecting applicants. In St. Louis, for example, a stumping youth from Illinois was rejected because he had flat feet, the unalterable presumption in the army regulations being that the man who has flat feet will fall in the march. Yet this same youth had walked sixty-five miles to offer his services to Uncle Sam. This recalls a similar incident at a recruiting station in Kansas City, Kan., when applicants were under consideration for the Spanish-American War.

Was a husky young man presented himself for service, but was rejected after a rather superficial examination, much to his surprise.

"What's the matter with me?" he asked.

"You have flat feet," said the recruiting officer.

"What's that got to do with it?"

"The hell I can't. I can walk down my own yard."

"What's your business?"

"Track walker for the Santa Fe."

Nevertheless the track walker was rejected because the presumption was that he couldn't walk. All of which suggests that when a man has demonstrated that he has risen superior to a handicap he should be rendered immune to the rules concerning the handicap.

Hats Off to the College Boys

(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)

The news that Colgate College will disband practically on account of the war, since so many of the students and the faculty have enlisted, is typical of a situation that has a profound and tragic significance. Everywhere the very best among the higher student body of the country are taking to the colors in some form of service or another. Those who have often hastily criticized the supposed lack of serious concern on the part of the college boys are now, as it were, making full apologies. Moreover, these critics forget what happened in the Civil War, though of course, then there was no such magnificent range of schools of colleges or universities to make the splendid spectacle of sacrifice now in evidence all over the land. The thing is moving in its very simplicity and in the lack of ostentation. The boys and the professors are just "going away."

The services vary, some are humble and some call for all the resources of nature, trained men; but whatever the lot or billet, they are ready and are going; many are already at work and, as the cables announce, winning golden opinions and awards for bravery on the other side. Used to ease at home, in conveniences and comforts at college and a life fuller than anything known in the sixties, there is no sneaking in 1917. They are "going away," and it's hats off to them. The collections of today are worthy of their country; they are no mean citizens of no mean country.

Awfully Careless of It

(From the New York Sun)

Genealogical Research Postponed
(From "Topics of the Times" in the New York Times)

Some surprises are more surprising than others, and the most surprising of all, perhaps, are not those that come when unexpected things happen, but when people behave in ways we knew they wouldn't. The frequency of that experience will never make it familiar. These remarks may serve as introduction for a tale told by the Grafton (N. H.) Times of one Fred Bray, a youth there resident.

He is, it seems, half German by blood, but wholly American by education and inclination. The latter fact accounts for the fact that he has just enlisted, the former for his having been more than a bit apprehensive as to the way in which Grandfather and Grandmother Zimmermann would receive the news that he was going to fight their Fatherland. The revelation had to be made, however, and was, in a farewell visit before starting for the training camp.

No excitement followed—no denunciations and not even any protests. Grandfather Zimmermann only said: "Well, Fred, when you go to shoot a German, ask him first if his name is Zimmermann." Before the hyperbolicity of this advice could be discussed, Grandmother Zimmermann broke in with: "Don't you do anything of the kind, Fred, because he might shoot you first." Thereupon Grandfather Zimmermann doubly proved the thoroughness of his Americanization by saying: "Well, I guess she's right. You better shoot him first and ask him afterward."

The Test of Patriotism

(From the New York World)

The draft-registration rules are very simple for the man of military age who wants to serve his country. It is the man who is seeking to evade service who finds them difficult.

Where No Conscience War

(From the Providence Journal)

In their objections to the selective draft some of these "conscientious objectors" will be giving the first positive evidence they have ever submitted as to their actual possession of a conscience.

NO TOLERATION FOR TRAITORS

Chairman John B. Jameson of the State Committee on Public Safety, today sent out a letter to all the local chairmen of the safety committees in the state relative to conscription day, next Tuesday. He used strong language in designating anti-conscriptionists and urging all chairmen to see that every person eligible is encouraged to do his duty Tuesday. Chairman Jameson's letter follows:

"In some parts of the country there are unpatriotic and cowardly people who are trying to arouse opposition to registration and draft. These people, whether citizens or aliens, are enemies of our country, and must be promptly and effectively silenced.

It is a satisfaction to know that up to the present time, there has been very little of this sort of thing in New Hampshire, but it is necessary for all local committees and all good citizens to be on the alert and on the watch for any attempt that may be made to interfere with registration day, June 5, or any subsequent date with full compliance with the law in regard to registration and draft.

"We are at war and the severe penalties for violation of the law will be rigidly enforced. Traitors will not be tolerated. At Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday, a man was fined and sent to jail for making a speech against conscription; three in Columbus, Ohio, face the death penalty on charges of treason for plotting against registration.

This is as it should be; the present is no time to trifle with such enemies of the government.

"It is your duty as a member of the Committee on Public Safety, to immediately take measures to stop any seditious talk or actions that come to your notice, first by reproof, next by arrest of the individual.

Any cases that cannot be handled locally should be referred to us, and we will see that they receive prompt attention.

"We believe that this splendidly patriotic spirit manifested by the people of New Hampshire unto the date will continue to the end, but it is wise to let nothing of a suspicious nature pass without investigation."

WEATHER PREDICTION

Washington, June 2—The weather for New England for the week of June 3, as announced by the weather bureau today: Showers on Sunday, followed by clearing weather on Monday and several days following. Moderate temperature.

Eight Hundred at Boston

Approximately 2000 young men flocked to the Charlestown navy yard on Friday to take the examination for assistant paymasters in the U. S. naval reserve force, 100 of whom are to be appointed from the large list of applicants in the entire country.

More than half the applicants at the navy yard were disappointed Friday in their attempt to take the examinations because the number of men anxious to secure some of the coveted positions made it impossible to examine all. It was estimated that nearly 800 were given the physical and written examinations in the armory of building 39, by Paymaster Alvin Hovey King, who was assisted in the task by Asst. Paymaster Cogh.

CERTAIN DEFEAT OF THE FRENCH WAS IMMINENT

Washington, June 2—France would have been beaten to her knees not later than July 1 if the United States had not joined the allies' ranks, it was authoritatively learned today. This was the statement of a member of the French war mission to the high administration officer within the last week. This explains the decision of the President to dispatch an expedition abroad, and it further elucidates the unexpected announcement from the White House that General Pershing would take his army to France.

The French people, it can be stated, really needed this assurance as a stimulant to their waning energies. Pershing's expedition was not planned so much for arousing this country from its languor as it was to lend courage to the French "poules," who, for the last few months have been nearing the point of exhaustion.

Every soldier lost to France now, it is stated, is an irreparable loss. France has exhausted her reserves, or, perhaps better stated, she has lost her power to feed and equip her reserves. The fact remains that France is approaching the point where she can well claim to have given her all.

The task before the United States is to bolster up the French lines, first with food and supplies, and next spring with man power. The sooner that the country is brought to a full realization of this, it was stated today, the better it will be for the United States in the long run. The choice before this country is either to support France now or to take France's place before the German lines later.

The spring French offensive which has been heralded in American newspapers as a success, was more or less of a failure it can be confidently stated. The German lines remain virtually intact, though they have been bent back in places. Moreover the optimistic reports regarding the reduction of submarine effectiveness in recent weeks are not accepted without a good deal of skepticism in official circles. One high official admitted today that he had been trying for the past two weeks to obtain a confidential report of the submarine sinkings and had failed. This, he admitted, favored of suppression, and harmful suppression at that, for, he continued, what this country needs today more than anything else is a knowledge of the actual conditions which will awaken it from its present leisurely attitude toward the war.

COL. CODY'S BODY WILL BE PLACED IN ROCK VAULT

(By Associated Press)

Denver, Colo., June 2—At sunrise tomorrow morning the body of Col. William F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill) will be taken from its temporary resting place in a Denver mortuary and will be transported to a vault known in the solid rock of "Wildcat Point," on Lookout Mountain, there to remain.

From the summit of the mountain, the plains of the states of Kansas, Nebraska and Wyoming are visible. It was upon these plains that the old scout and hunter spent his early life. Often in later years when a showman, he had gone to the place and it was his fondness for the scenery that led those in charge of his funeral to choose "Wildcat Point" as the pioneer's last resting place.

Colonel Cody died on Jan. 10, last. On Jan. 14, public funeral services attended by thousands of persons within and outside of Colorado, were held for the platoonman. Tomorrow's services are to be simple and no provision has been made for the attendance of a great crowd. The massive bronze coffin containing the great scout's body is to be sealed into the vault with the rites of the Masonic burial service, which will be performed by Golden City Lodge, No. 1, the oldest Masonic organization in this part of the west. A delegation of Knights Templar from the commandery in North Platte, of which Colonel Cody was also a member will act as escort.

BOAT LOAD OF WET GOODS INTERCEPTED

Alvey Paradis of Bliddeford was in the Kittery court Friday evening and pleaded guilty to the unlawful possession of a considerable quantity of spirituous liquors, etc., with another person who got away was caught in the lower harbor Thursday night while trying to get by the patrol boat. The men had a boat load of wet goods valued at nearly $150 which with Paradis fell into the hands of Deputy Sheriff James K. Boardman of Kittery.

Judge Shaw continued the case until this morning in order that Paradis might secure counsel, and Attorney Joseph H. Paquin of Bliddeford appeared for the young man before sentence was passed.

Attorney Paquin asked for a light sentence, but Judge Shaw said that under all the circumstances he could do nothing but impose the sentence provided in such cases. Paradis was therefore ordered to pay a fine of $100 and costs and also sentenced to serve 30 days in Alford Jail and in default of the payment of the fine and costs to serve 60 days additional.

An appeal was entered and bail of $300 furnished by Bliddeford men, Joseph Lamontagne and Joseph Cole.

NAVY NOTES

Popular Officer Detached.

Lieut. Commander Daniel T. Ghent of the enrolling office at the navy yard has been detached and ordered to another post for duty. The yard loses one of its most capable officers in the departure of Lieut. Commander Ghent. He was assigned to the industrial department at the local station over a year ago and later assigned to the enrolling office as senior officer of the harbor patrol. In every detail of duty this officer was never found wanting and rapidly gained the respect and esteem of the civilian force of government workmen as well as the officials. His many friends and acquaintances in this city and at the navy yard wish him much success in his new field of labor for Uncle Sam.

EXETER

Exeter, June 2.—Exeter has made extensive preparations for the dual meet with the All-Boston schools this afternoon. This meet will close the track season here instead of the annual dual meet with Phillips Andover which has been held for the past 16 years without a break.

Judging from the performances made by the Boston boys in the finals yesterday the events should be closely contested and Exeter will have a stiff proposition to conquer the Hub schools.

The school will be thrown wide open to the visitors who will arrive on one of the early morning trains. The visiting athletes will number close to 75, and with coaches and rosters, several hundred are likely to arrive on later trains.

If the meet is a success it is not unlikely that it will be made an annual affair.

Exeter will have a large number of entries and the Boston schools will be represented by the first three point winners in the meet held in Boston during the past week, the finals being held on Memorial day.

Exeter's most likely point winners will be Torkelsen, who finished second in both dashes in the Brown meet; Saxby in the 440, O'Donnell in the half, both winners in their events in the Brown meet; Grogness in the 75-yard hurdles and high jump, and possibly in the hop, step and jump, which is a new event for Exeter and Noyes in the 12-pound shot put.

Provisions for registration on June 5 have been completed here, the hours being from 7 in the morning to 9 in the evening in the town hall under the direction of Town Clerk Fred S. Fellows, who has appointed Register of Deeds John W. A. Green, Police Commissioner Arthur O. Fuller, Selectman Clarence Gatchell, Representative Richard E. Shute and Howard A. Ross, gymnasium instructor at the Phillips Exeter academy as assistants.

It is estimated that there are about 100 in Exeter of the registration age.

The first parish men's club has chosen officers as follows for the coming year: President, Judge Henry A. Shute; vice presidents, Albertus T. Dudley, George D. Master and William B. Seaward; treasurer, Leroy E. Burbee; recording secretary, Charles H. Sargent; corresponding secretary, Edmund H. Wentworth; program committee, Maro S. Brooks, Charles S. Bates and Norman S. McKendrick; membership committee, Leonard F. Smith, George A. Prescott and Frederick C. Rogers. The club now has 74 members.

The Exeter Equal Suffrage League has chosen officers as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Katherine Davis; vice chairman, Miss Jessie W. Ford; chairman of the finance committee, Mrs. Charles W. Mithy; publicity, Mrs. Ellen L. Wentworth; enrollment, Miss Frances E. Montfort; propaganda, Miss Maude V. Jolton and suffrage clerk, Mrs. G. W. Barker. Prizes of $5, $3, and $2 have been offered for girls' gardens.

Instead of the customary class parties at the Robinson seminary at the graduation on June 13 this year, there will be an address by Dean Brown of the Yale school of religion.

The class hours have been respectively awarded to Misses Mary A. Sweeney, Evelyn P. Wignia and Ella M. Harrington.

The date of the annual prize speaking has been changed from today to June 11.

Clifford M. Vroom of Lakewood, N. J., is visiting his parents here, prior to taking up his summer position at the Alpine, North Woodstock.

The Philpotts class of the Baptist Sunday school met with Mrs. Rose Alford last evening.

Miss Elizabeth Sargent of Concord, state secretary of the Young Ladies' Missionary work speaks at the Neugier and Further Lights of the Baptist church Sunday afternoon.

Dr. W. H. Nute's first aid class, under whose auspices the recent benefit for the Red Cross society was held, netted the sum of $31.15.

The annual meeting of the ministers and laymen of the Dover district of the New Hampshire Methodist conference together with the Heddington reunion held yesterday at the People's Methodist church.

The morning session was opened by the discussion of the program of 1917-18, "In The Country Church," by Rev. G. H. Collier; "In The City Church," by Rev. H. W. Hook of the Grace church, Haverhill, Mass.; "In Religious Education," by Mills Anderson of Somersworth; "District Goals," by Rev. T. Ross Hicks, superintendent of the Dover District; and concluded by a conference of Preacher's Aid Campaign by Rev. T. H. Walcott, agent of the society.

The afternoon session consisted of an address on "The Lawrence Revival" by Rev. Donald Gerrish of Lawrence, Mass.; "The Exeter Campaign" by Rev. John D. Leach of Exeter; "The Hampton Harvest," by Rev. Roger Thompson of Hampton, and an address by Dean L. J. Hiney of the Boston University Theological school.

The evening session consisted of the Heddington reunion when Heddington ground songs were sung and an evangelistic address was given by P. E. Call of Dover street mission of Boston.

MAYOR'S VIEWS BRINGS CHEERS

Boston, June 2.—A spontaneous outburst of shouts, cheers and applause rocked Faneuil Hall for several minutes last evening when Mayor Curley, at the height of an impassioned tribute to the patriotism of America, touched upon the question of why our troops should go to Europe until there is conscription in Canada, Australia, Italy and Russia to the point of 100 per cent.

The wild demonstration that followed was apparently unanticipated, even by the mayor, as the historic Cradle of Liberty was jammed to the doors with more than 1500 citizens, including business men, judges, attorneys and male school teachers, every one of whom had pledged themselves to work from 7 a. m. until after 9 p. m., next Tuesday, without pay at the 223 election booths in Boston doing registration duty. It was several minutes before the applause abated enough to permit the mayor to continue with his speech.

"This nation has been traveling at a pretty rapid pace in the past few months," he stated. "We have delegated to our President the powers previously enjoyed by the Legislature, the judiciary and other branches of the government."

"I believe that conscription is going to be a benefit. I believe that it is going to force an answer to this vital question: Why should our men go abroad to fight until the powers at war have conscripted their available men to a full 100 per cent. In Canada, Australia, Italy and Russia?"

An explosion like the bursting of a bombshell rocked Faneuil Hall to its foundations. After the outburst subsided, he continued: "That question has not been answered yet. This is a republic and not the tool of plutocracy, not the child of any kingdom in the world."

"Especially England," shouted a voice from the balcony and a volley of laughter and cheers followed this interruption.

At this juncture the mayor switched to another angle of the situation and a moment or two later unexpectedly terminated his speech with an appeal for all Bostonians to prove themselves in the present crisis to be courteous, honest, sincere and genuine Americans.

In opening his address, he thanked the 1500 persons present for their patriotism in volunteering their services without pay and asserted that the present situation justifies apprehension as to the future and what it holds in store for every person in the United States.

"We will all live to thank God for the day the United States adopted universal military service," he said. "It means the destruction of religious bigotry and racial prejudice. It means the end of the barbarism of labor warfare known in America as strikes. It means the abolition of the evil of caste, it means the establishing of the noblest type of democracy."

"This is a period of apprehension. Many believe that those who have to enroll their names may sacrifice their lives later. Mothers are on the verge of mental prostration. I want to say that in the history of our nation there was never a case where we entered war with a wrong purpose or an ignoble object."

"I cannot believe that the United States proposes to sacrifice its sons and bring misery into its homes until such time as the nations abroad have done their full part and until our men are fully prepared, by discipline, training and equipment, to enter war in a manner that will bring proper glory to the stars and stripes."

Prior to the arrival of Mayor Curley, the meeting was devoted to explanations of various technical points in the duties of conscription registrars by the four members of the Boston Election Commission. This was attended by more or less confusion due to interruptions from the various registrars who wanted questions answered. One query was as to whether the son of a white woman and a Chinaman would be recorded as being a Caucasian or a Mongolian. Another was as to whether the chief registrar was expected to do any work or merely superintend. After the departure of Mayor Curley, the crowd remained for nearly an hour discussing his address and questioning the election commissioners on various points that may arise on registration day, next Tuesday.

Congressmen seem determined that President Wilson will not succeed in muzzling the press either during the war or after, especially as regards criticisms of the administration when such criticism is necessary.

WAR AUTO TAXES TO RAISE $41,000,000

Senate Finance Committee Will Suggest New Plan for War Finance Measure to Bring Large
Revenue from Pleasure Cars

(By Associated Press)
A war tax on automobiles planned to raise $41,000,000 for the war revenue on cars not used entirely for commercial purposes, was written into the war revenue bill by the Senate Finance Committee today in an effort to place the burden of taxation where it would best be borne. The tax will not hit owners of cars used exclusively for commercial purposes, but will be placed only on vehicles used for pleasure, entirely or in part. The schedule as planned by the committee is graded according to the value of the car.
On motor cycles that tax will be $2.00.

The schedule for autos follows:
Cars valued up to $500, tax $7.50.
Cars from $500 to $1,000—$10.00.
Cars from $1,000 to $2,000—$15.00.
Cars from $2,000 to $3,000—$20.00.
Cars valued above $3,000—$25.00.
From the number of cars in operation in the country it is expected that this plan will raise $41,000,000 of the $1,500,000,000 revenue required by the administration for the carrying on of the war.
The committee also agreed to remove the proposed tax on popular priced motion picture theatres as being a burden, not to the theatre manager, but to the patron who will have to pay the tax probably at a profit to the owner.

STRIKING CHANGES IN CHINA'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS INNOVATIONS

Peking, June 2.—Striking changes which have been wrought in China's attitude towards foreign innovations were emphasized by Dr. Wu Ting-fang, the Chinese minister of foreign affairs in an address which he delivered at the annual dinner of the American college club composed of students who have returned after obtaining an education in American colleges. The dinner was held in the foreign office.

In his address to the colleaguers who have studied in America, Dr. Wu Ting-fang said that the dinner, bringing together Chinese men and women, was indicative of the changes which have swept over China, since the first Chinese students were sent abroad to be educated.

"A dinner like this could not have taken place," said the minister. "It used to be one of the questions to refer in China to foreign affairs. There was a distinct of foreigners."

"When I first learned the English language I did not dare to speak it in China. I often had to conceal my knowledge. Everything foreign was feared and despised. But what a great change has taken place. We now see Chinese youths in foreign dress, wearing patent leather shoes and tall hats. Everything foreign is a fashion today. It is almost fashionable of all to have foreign wives."

"Forty years ago a Chinese gentleman who was educated in Yale learned many good things during his sojourn there. Then he returned to China and had a hard struggle. By perseverance and indomitable patience, he succeeded in persuading Li Hung-chang and Tseng Kuo-fan to send students to America for education. Finally 120 students were dispatched to the States in four parties. On their return, however, they received shameful treatment from the government. For nine years they could not get on but they spread their knowledge of democracy among their fellow countrymen."

Addressing Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, the American minister, Dr. Wu added: "We therefore get our knowledge of democracy from your country. It is a debt, and we feel grateful for your assistance and for the system of government you have given us."

Col. Harry C. Hale of the U. S. army who is in command of the 15th infantry stationed at Tien-tsin, spoke on behalf of the American students. He expressed the hope that more and more students from China may go yearly to American colleges, especially to the national military academy at West Point where two Chinese students graduated with high honors in 1915. He said that the good will which exists between the two countries is due in a great measure to the efforts of American educators both in the U. S. and China.

The American minister, Dr. Reinsch, Admiral Tseng Tsi-tan and many other prominent Chinese officials were among the guests of honor seated at the speaker's table. C. C. Wang, a graduate of Yale acted as toastmaster, and presented the new president of the club, C. T. Wang, who is also a Yale man, and vice speaker of the Chinese senate.

STRONG FOUND GUILTY FOR KILLING FRIEND

(By Associated Press)
Knoxville, Tenn., June 1.—Rush Strong was today found guilty of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of Sam Luttrell, Jr., at Knoxville in July, 1916. The verdict carries an indefinite sentence of from two to ten years in State Prison. Strong shot Luttrell when the latter confessed to intimate relations with the former's wife. Both men were prominent socially.

RUSSIA WILL SEND SPECIAL ENVOY TO CHINA

(By Associated Press)
Peking, June 2.—Prince Kourakoff, the Russian minister at Peking has advised the foreign office that he has been instructed by his home government to continue in charge of the legation in China. The minister also advised the Chinese government that Russia desires to send a special envoy to China for the purpose of conferring a high honor upon President Li Yuan-hung and expressing Russia's appreciation of China's formal recognition of the provisional government at Peking.

BOXING NOTES

Two likely opponents for a battle with Benny Leonard for the lightweight championship are Chick Simler of Senanton and Willie Jackson of New York, who will battle in the headline attraction of the Armory A. A. show at the Boston Arena next Tuesday night. Simler recently met the popular award over Freddie Welsh in a no-draw-outside fight, while Jackson is the only man who ever succeeded in knocking out Johnnie Dundee.

Simler has already proven his worth to Boston fans. Twice he has battled with Johnnie Dundee at the Arena, and on both occasions a great number of the fans went away with the opinion that he should have won. The Senanton boxer is a very capable scrapper, and must be considered as a runner-up for the lightweight title. He is clever, speedy, aggressive, and can punch as hard as any of the lightweights in the first class.

Jackson's defeat of Johnnie Dundee was the slug sensation of the year. He caught Dundee with a right-hand smash to the jaw as the Italian came off the ropes. Dundee has endeavored to convince the public that it was a fluke, but it is quite apparent that he has not striven hard for another match with Jackson. The latter is a very fast, persistent boxer, of the bull-dog type, who keeps going every moment. He and Simler will make a great fight. Simler's previous bouts here ought to make him a favorite.

Benny Valdez, the former amateur bantam champion, and Paddy Owens of Cambridge, will box 10 rounds in the semi-final. Charlie Mitchell of Braintree and George Delano of Charlestown look up in the opening number, and they will be followed by Sam Bell and Joe Flynn of the North End.

It is announced.

Gowdy is under contract for the season to the Braves at a salary reported to be $6,000, but as the Ohio National Guard will not be called to service until July 15 the famous backstop will have several weeks of baseball before joining the colors.

"Habit" Maranville, the star shortstop of the Braves, has signified his intention of enlisting in the Navy. It was announced today.

TORNADOES IN SOUTHWEST DO MORE DAMAGE

(By Associated Press)

Kansas City, Mo., June 1.—A tornado which swept a large section of Missouri today and this evening, took heavy toll in Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, destroying homes and killing many people. It is believed, although only meagre details can be obtained owing to the disabling of telephone and telegraphic communications, which were cut off early after the "twister" started operations. Four hundred homes in Coalgate, Okla., were destroyed within a few moments. It was stated, the town having a population of 3,000. Two hundred homes in Coffeyville, Kansas, were destroyed by the tornado, and the loss of life is believed to be heavy in both places, one message stating that thirteen dead were recovered in Coalgate.

ARMY SHOE CONTRACTS ARE AWARDED

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 1.—Contracts for 3,450,000 pairs of army shoes were awarded today by the National Defense Council. Delivery will be demanded within eight months of the completed contracts, at an average price of $1.85 per pair. The contracts were let after the opening of competitive bids in which a large number of firms submitted figures. The contracts were distributed among twenty-seven bidders, the majority going to firms in New England.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Portsmouth People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular kidney action, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Portsmouth proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. Alfred Terrio, 116 Sparhawk St., Portsmouth, says: "From heavy lifting and straining my back became very painful, just through my kidneys. This caused me to feel exhausted much of the time. It was awfully hard for me to bend over at all. My kidneys were also irregular in action. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved this trouble. I always use them now when a slight attack shows itself."

"Price 50c. At all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Terrio had." Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

PORTSMOUTH
FACE DANGER

Twice barely escaping with his life from a torpedoed ship is the experience of Harold Burke of this city who was a member of the crew of the schooner Mayola, and who arrived recently at Halifax from St. John's N. B., where he and other members of the crew landed from the steamer at Liverpool.

Burke and the other members of the Mayola's crew had the remarkable experience of seeing a vessel torpedoed only a half a mile away, rescuing the crew of the vessel, having their own ship sunk off the Portuguese coast and later boarding a steamer bound for England having the steamer sent to the bottom by Germans, and their captain drowned when the ship went down. "Yes, we are still alive, and willing to go to sea again," said Burke when he arrived in Halifax.

AGED WALKER
REACHES HERE

W. S. Chapman, of Millington Green, Conn., who despite his 72 years of age, is making a walk from coast to coast, covering a distance of 11,000 miles, arrived in this city on Friday and called at the Herald office. Mr. Chapman is in fine condition and has until August 31 to finish his trip which will end at Albany, N. Y.

Mr. Chapman started from Baltimore, Maryland, March 9, 1916 for San Francisco, making the trip over the Lincoln highway. On his return he made the trip over the old Spanish trail to Tallahassee, Florida. He carries a large number of documents attested by the mayors of the various cities in which he has visited. From here he will go to Burlington, Vt.

OLYMPIA THEATRE
NOTES.

Exemption of popular priced moving picture theatres from amusement taxes and the levying of a new federal license tax on automobile owners was agreed upon by the senate finance committee in continuing revision of the war tax bill. Senator Penrose championed the movement to eliminate the proposed tax of one cent on each dime paid for a moving picture ticket. His argument which was, "The movies are the poor man's theatre."

For the first time in the history of the court, a picture film was offered as the sole defense in a damage suit recently. As a result an action for 20,000 was dismissed.

We believe the war will bring increases in attendance at the majority of the motion picture theatres. And, too, the war will make our patrons much more serious. War time audiences are much more serious than the ordinary audience. They will have a more appreciative sense of quality and will be quickly irritated by the cheap.

Practically every seat was occupied at this popular theatre last evening. Our program is very strong and is
